Former German professional cyclist Rick Zabel took delivery of a MAN TGE at the end of March, which he will be using in 2025 for his social media project 'Rick needs a job'. MAN Truck & Bus is the exclusive van partner of the social media format. In 'Rick needs a job', the cyclist tries out a different job every week for a whole year with the aim of finding a suitable job for himself after his professional sporting career. The first episodes were released on YouTube at the beginning of the year ('Rick needs a job').

Rick Zabel is now looking for a job with a MAN TGE. The MAN TopUsed van was converted by camping conversion specialist MAVIS to meet Rick Zabel's needs. It is now a multi-functional vehicle for self-determined outdoor living. The highlights of the conversion are the flexible, modular MAVIS modules, which turn the camper into a versatile space for working, travelling and adventure. Thanks to its customisability, the extension offers maximum flexibility - from storage space for sports equipment such as Rick's racing bike to a podcast studio and relaxation areas, including a hammock on the roof.

Rick Zabel will be seen with his MAN TGE at the Triathlon Challenge in Roth at the beginning of July and at the Hamburg Cyclassic cycling race in mid-August.
