MAN Truck & Bus increased global unit sales by 8% in the first half of 2026 compared with the same period last year. A total of around 51,000 units were sold – including around 32,000 trucks (+10%), approximately 3,300 buses (+2%) and just under 16,000 vans (+6%). The engine business grew by 17%, with almost 6,000 units sold. While demand developed positively in many European markets, the traditionally important German market lagged behind this trend. Business with fully electric vehicles developed particularly dynamically: unit sales rose by 37% to around 1,100 units, including around 600 eTrucks and more than 500 eBuses.

"The sales trend shows that our broad product range is holding its own in a challenging market environment. At the same time, battery-electric vehicles are becoming increasingly important to our customers," says Friedrich Baumann, Executive Board Member for Sales & Customer Solutions at MAN.

Completing the battery-electric truck portfolio

From the second half of the year, MAN is focusing on new battery-electric vehicle models for urban delivery traffic, regional transport and coach travel. The electric truck portfolio will then span everything from light-duty distribution trucks to heavy-duty long-haul tractor units. The all-electric heavy-duty models, the MAN eTGX and eTGS, offer a range of around 570 kilometres in a typical 4x2 tractor-semitrailer configuration. The new MAN eTGM, designed for urban and regional distribution operations, provides a range of up to 500 kilometres

MAN Truck & Bus is one of Europe's leading commercial vehicle manufacturers and providers of transport solutions with an annual sales revenue of around 14.1 billion euros (2025). The company's product portfolio includes trucks, buses and coaches with diesel and zero-emission drives, vans, diesel and gas engines along with services related to passenger and cargo transport. MAN Truck & Bus is a company of TRATON GROUP and employs some 32,000 people worldwide.

as a rigid truck. With customer deliveries of the MAN Lion's Coach E scheduled to begin at the end of the year, MAN will also add a fully electric coach with a range of up to 650 km to its portfolio.
